Anglo-Italian Accord Soon In Effect, Premier Says

Chamberlain Proposes Debate Start Tomorrow so That Pact Might Be Speeded Toward Operation

Polish Pact

Poles and Czechs Border Dispute Is Settled—French Cabinet Split

(By The Associated Press)

Prime Minister Chamberlain told the House of Commons today that he expected to put in operation soon the Italian-British friendship accord, a key point in his policy of dealing with dictators.

Signed April 16, the agreement has remained inoperative pending a "settlement" of the Spanish question. The premier announced that he intended to put the pact into effect "as soon as possible" and proposed the question for debate tomorrow.

Another of Europe's troublesome issues—the Czechoslovak-Polish border dispute—was settled by agreement between Czechoslovakia's foreign minister and the Polish minister to Prague.

The French government meanwhile, sought to iron out its differences over proposed emergency financial measures.

Political observers said the French cabinet was split into three groups, one supporting the entire program of Finance Minister Paul Marchandeau, one holding it completely unacceptable and a third, including Premier Daladier, favoring part of the plan but opposing its most drastic measures.

Details were not disclosed, but the press said Marchandeau's proposals included requisitioning of foreign exchange, exceptional income taxes and an eight per cent levy on stock coupons. Marchandeau was said to consider strong action necessary to save France from bankruptcy.

The debate in the British parliament was expected to center on means of speeding defense measures which the government has acknowledged are not being carried forward rapidly enough.

The other major question for debate—foreign policy—centered on Prime Minister Chamberlain's part in the four-power Munich conference at which Britain, France, Italy and Germany agreed on the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia.

The four-day debate was expected to wind up the present session of parliament.

In Vienna, preparations were made for tomorrow's conference of German, Italian, Czechoslovak and Hungarian diplomats on the Czechoslovak-Hungarian territorial dispute.

German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop and Italian Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano, the referees whose decisions will be final, will meet with Foreign Ministers Koloman von Kanya of Hungary and Frantisek Chvalkovsky of Czechoslovakia.

In the Chinese-Japanese conflict the Japanese continued their drive into the interior from Hankow and were admitted by the Chinese to have captured Teian, 125 miles southeast of the former provisional capital, after more than three months of bitter fighting.

One column of Japanese was reported to have occupied Hanchuan, 60 miles up the Yangtze river from Hankow.

In Spain government dispatches said the insurgent offensive on the Ebro front had been fought to a standstill.

Behan in Jail

Police Lieutenant Awaiting Action of Grand Jury to Be Formed November 17

New York, Nov. 1 (AP)—Identified by a fellow policeman as the man who removed records of 7,000 arrests from Brooklyn police headquarters, Police Lieutenant Albert J. Behan was held in jail today pending appearance before an extraordinary grand jury to be impaneled November 17.

Magistrate Matthew J. Troy refused a request by Behan's counsel to reduce bail from $25,000 to $15,000 after Special Prosecutor John Harlan Amen objected.

Amen, who is heading the broad inquiry into Brooklyn law enforcement agencies authorized by Gov. Lehman, opposed Behan's release.

County Residents At Wallkill Pass Centralized Plan

Voters From 17 School Districts in Four Towns Cast 783 Ballots, Proponents Get About 3-1 Victory

At a meeting held Monday evening at Wallkill voters of 17 school districts in the towns of Gardner, Shawangunk, Plattkill and Newburgh voted 576 to 207 for centralization. With a total of 783 votes cast on the proposition of whether a Central School District should be formed the proposition was carried nearly three to one.

Following the adoption of the plan for centralization a board of education was formed with the following members named as members of the board: L. C. Edsall of Wallkill, C. E. Terwiler of Wallkill, W. E. Bruyn of Bruynswick, Lee Hammer of Newburgh, and George Sisti of Plattkill. The board did not organize or elect officers.

Plans for the construction of a new grade school at Plattkill to contain about four rooms and for the addition of several rooms to the present school in Wallkill were prepared by Architect Gerard W. Betz. In September application was made for a FWA grant and the application has been approved by the New York office and final approval by Washington is being awaited.

The proposed plan calls for an addition to the present building in Wallkill to care for both grade and high school students from the consolidated districts. At present the Wallkill school is used for both grade and high school students but by centralization considerable more room will be required. The proposed improvements call for an expenditure of about $260,000. Of that sum 45 per cent will come from the Federal grant and 25 per cent of the balance from state funds. The remainder of the cost will be raised by bond issue on the districts.

Dewey Says He'll Serve 4 Years, His Answer to Lehman

Governor Reiterates Charge Rival Is Breaking Faith With People by Seeking Higher Political Office

Points at Brooklyn

Dewey Says Lehman Should Have Ordered Broader Vice Investigation

(By The Associated Press)

Governor Herbert H. Lehman and his Republican opponent, Thomas E. Dewey, began today the last week of intensive campaigning before the election of a New York state governor and other officers Tuesday.

Welcomed by cheering crowds at an American Labor Party rally in Madison Square Garden last night, Dewey reiterated a charge that Lehman was "breaking faith with the people" by seeking higher political office than the one he now holds as Manhattan's district attorney.

Dewey, meanwhile, announced at Buffalo that he would serve a "full four years" if elected governor. In Syracuse last night, the Republican candidate criticized the governor for not ordering a law enforcement investigation in Brooklyn broader in scope than that now under way.

Other developments:

President Roosevelt stepped into the state picture for the first time by praising U. S. Senator Robert F. Wagner as a "great liberal" in a letter made public by the Progressive Republican Committee for Wagner. The Senator seeks reelection on the Democratic ticket.

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace accused Dewey of failing to tell "the whole truth" about the income of New York state farmers and called for reelection of Governor Lehman and the entire Democratic ticket.

John Lord O'Brien, Republican candidate for the United States Senate, charged "political strategists" with attempting "to divert attention from Senator Wagner and his mistakes."

Frederick Stuart Greene, state public works superintendent, branded as "mistaken" a recent campaign address by Dewey on the state highway system.

Former Democratic Governor Alfred E. Smith urged support of proposed constitutional amendment No. 3, intended to accelerate the state's grade crossing elimination program.

Manhattan's district attorney made his declaration in a press conference in answer to reported Democratic statements that he would seek the presidency in 1940 if successful in the gubernatorial race.

Dewey was asked: "Will you serve your full term regardless of what happens in other fields?"

"Certainly," he replied. "I have spent eight years in New York county on one job. That job in New York county is mainly finished. It will take at least four years to revitalize the government of the state."

Referring to his decision to seek the governorship over the Democratic incumbent, Herbert H. Lehman, after having served as district attorney for less than a year, Dewey said that he considered the Manhattan crime situation almost cleaned up. He declared it was hopeless to attempt to keep it that way so long as other, undersigned counties, remained under what he termed corrupt control.

Dewey said he believed the big Manhattan criminal syndicates had been broken down, the district attorneyship had been taken from Tammany Hall and the office and its work re-organized.

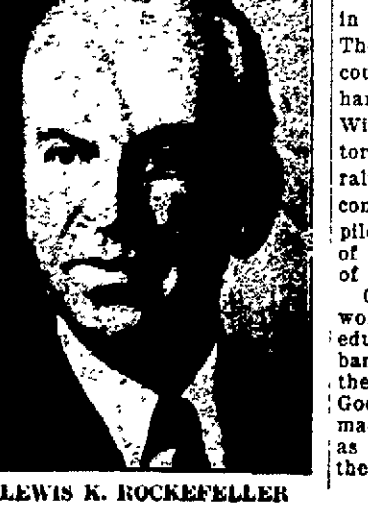

Tonight, after a side trip to Niagara Falls for a brief talk, Dewey delivers a major speech here.

Last night, in a speech in Syracuse on his last upstate swing of the campaign, Dewey said Brooklyn, for years a Democratic stronghold in the state, was a place where murder was "safe."

November's Chill Debut

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 1 (AP)—Killing frosts, fog and sub-freezing temperatures marked November's debut today in most sections of New York state. At Tonawanda, police reported traffic moving at 15 miles an hour because of poor visibility. Syracuse reported a temperature reading of 30, with a heavy fog and frost, while at Albany it was 26—the coldest thus far this fall.

Male Nurse Dies At Rooming House

Early Last Night

G. E. Snedeker, 43, Inhales Illuminating Gas at Lasher Residence on Henry Street—Wife's Story

Coroner's Verdict

Gallietta Makes Investigation and Gives Out Suicide Verdict

George Edgar Snedeker, 43, a male nurse, committed suicide early Monday evening by inhaling illuminating gas in his room in the rooming house conducted by Mrs. Lillian M. Lasher at 75 Henry street. The body was found by Kenneth Lasher and Edward Riskey of 69 Prospect street at 6:30 o'clock that evening.

Snedeker had been rooming at the Henry street address for two weeks, and apparently became despondent because of lack of work. His wife told the police that her husband was up and around the room at 1 o'clock the afternoon when she had gone out. Lasher and Riskey entered the house shortly after 6 o'clock Monday evening and at once became aware of the odor of gas in the house. The odor was traced to Snedeker's room. Trying the door they found it locked. A glass pane in the door was broken by Lasher who reached in and unlocked the door.

They found Snedeker sitting in a chair near the gas range. He had used a blanket to make a sort of tent which covered his body and the stove. Two of the gas jets were open on the stove and the gas was flowing into the room.

Lasher and Riskey immediately called police headquarters and Officers Cramer and Sorey were sent to the house, and later Officers Harnen and Fallon went to the house.

Dr. C. B. Van Gaasbeek was called and the emergency crew of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp. responded, but all efforts to resuscitate the man were futile.

Coroner Michael Gallietta of Glenside, who had been called, after investigating the affair issued a verdict of suicide, and turned the body over to Undertaker W. N. Conner of Fair street.

A note written by Snedeker was found written on an old, used envelope. It was addressed to "Dear Sweetheart" and simply said goodbye to her. No reason for his act was stated in the note which was taken in charge by the police.

Snedeker's home address is R. F. D. 3, Cooperstown. He had been employed as a male nurse in Beacon and had come to Kingston from that city. He had also worked at his profession in Oneonta.

His two sisters, Mrs. William Mercer of 97 Mill street, Beacon, and Mrs. Harry Thayer of R. F. D. 3, Cooperstown, were notified of their brother's death by the police in messages over the telephone.

Spectators Get Last Laugh

New York, Nov. 1 (AP)—Harry Seacoff laughed uproariously when his two-ton truck, loaded with hams, sat down on its haunches in the middle of 42nd street. The truck, stopping for a traffic light yesterday, rose up on its rear end when the weight shifted. Bystanders laughed. In fact, everybody did except Patrolman Thomas O'Dea, who had to cope with snarled traffic for 40 minutes. He directed unloading part of the hams to right the truck, then gave Seacoff a ticket. Seacoff drove off muttering.

Better Business Is Hope To Lessen Relief Load

Washington, Nov. 1 (AP)—Federal relief officials counted today on better business to lighten the relief burden in cities and help offset an increased demand for aid to rural families.

Audrey Williams, acting works progress administrator, expressed confidence that the next few months would bring a substantial reduction in urban relief rolls. Agricultural areas, however, are causing the administration concern.

Although 228,000 persons left WPA rolls in September, Williams said, the lists reached a record high of more than 3,000,000. There was a net increase of 42,401 during the month.

$300,000 in City Christmas Clubs

With several weeks yet to run, officials of the half dozen Kingston banks maintaining Christmas Clubs estimate that payments to members at Christmas time will aggregate around $300,000. This, according to estimates given, will exceed last year's payments by perhaps $17,000 or more.

The local Republican Dewey Caravan started from the court house at 11:30 o'clock this morning on a tour of the county which will take it to practically every hamlet and village in the county where the campaign issues will be discussed by local candidates and speakers interested in the state campaign.

Open air meetings will be held at central points of the county for the balance of the week with noon meetings in the central districts and short meetings throughout the afternoon, terminating with a mass meeting at some central point in the evening.

These open air meetings will be broadcast over a loud speaking system from a sound truck which left Kingston at the head of the caravan, fully decked out with campaign signs for Thomas E. Dewey, Republican candidate for governor, and other state and county candidates.

"We'll Do It With Dewey" was the campaign slogan as the procession started out for the opening meeting at Eddyville at noon today. As announcer and master of ceremonies was Fred Stang in the sound truck. As the caravan drew away from the curb Mr. Stang announced that the aim of the caravan was to broadcast information on the candidates and to make the facts and issues of the campaign known to every Ulster county resident. "We'll bring home the bacon, Ulster county by 10,000 votes for Dewey," announced Mr. Stang to the crowd which lined the curb to witness the departure of the caravan.

In the procession of cars was that of Sheriff Abram F. Moynihan, Republican candidate to succeed himself as sheriff, as well as cars in which rode others of the Republican candidates and speakers.

Tremper, Woodstock, Malden and Glenside with the evening meeting at Saugerties at 8:30 o'clock for a discussion of the issues and an outline of local matters.

PSC Empowered

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 1 (AP)—The Public Service Commission has been empowered to proceed at once with an investigation of the New York State Electric and Gas Corporation despite pending court action.

The Appellate Division yesterday refused a corporation motion to stay the investigation pending disposition of its appeal from a Supreme court ruling denying an injunction restraining the commission from conducting its investigation.

Guy H. Brown, counsel for the commission, contended the corporation has paid more than 10 million dollars to affiliates from 1929 to 1937, thus failing to comply with a commission order banning such payments. The appeal is scheduled to be argued at the November term.

Stocks Program Will Give Greater Safety To Patrons

Of outstanding interest to those who deal in stocks and securities was the announcement yesterday that a program aimed to make the New York Stock Exchange more useful to the public and give greater safety to patrons of the Exchange had been promulgated by that body and by the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The program represents ideas worked out together by President Martin of the Stock Exchange and Chairman Douglas of the SEC and his assistants. It is a continuation of the efforts to make a repetition of the Whitney case procedure impossible.

Features of the program are: Permitting Stock Exchange firms to form separate companies to handle their underwriting business as separate from their brokerage business; formation of a central depository to hold securities of customers of member firms; close scrutiny over financial accounts of Exchange members with an independent audit at least once a year for all firms dealing directly with the public; requirement that member firms ratio of indebtedness to capital shall be no more than 15 to 1; prohibiting member firms and partners from trading on margin with their own firm or others.

The reaction of Wall Street to the program is said to have been distinctly favorable.

Sales of finished textiles during the past month are reported to have been running on a level equal to those of a year ago, the data having been helped by orders placed in the department stores and mail order houses whose stocks had declined sharply in recent months. With retail trade again showing an upward trend, after unfavorable results during the unseasonable warm weather, the textile industry is expected to show further gains.

President Macaulay of Packard Motors said that the company's third quarter loss included heavy preparatory expense in putting the 1939 models into production. NEW YORK, Nov. 1 (AP)—Stocks encountered considerable profit taking in today's market after selected issues had pushed up fractions to 2 points in early dealings.

Steels led the initial upswing, but most subsequently yielded the largest part of their gains. Rubbers were in demand and rails, feeling better despite the wage decision, generally tacked on modest plus signs. Specialties were favored. Oliver Farm, among farm implements, put on a show of strength.

While leaders were well down from the top near the final hour, advances predominated. Transfers were at the rate of approximately 1,300,000 shares.

The staunch resistance of the carriers in yesterday's session to the ruling of the President's fact-finding board against pay cuts served to buoy Wall Street's spirits more than anything else.

In addition, analysts saw further indications that business is continuing upgrade. That important security holders are loath to part with holdings, notwithstanding the lengthy advance, was interpreted as exceptionally constructive in brokerage quarters.

Bonds got back on the ascending trail. Commodities were slightly uneven.

Bethlehem Steel shares pushed into new high territory for the year along with other favorites. Low-priced stocks again accounted for a sizable proportion of the volume.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

Good After Evil
Buffalo, N. Y.—Blind John Revenant thought the "meanest man in town" was the one who stole $2 worth of peanuts from his candy stand.

The "kindest man" stopped by yesterday, said he'd heard about the robbery, laid $2 in Revenant's hand, and left—without waiting to be thanked.

DEATH STRUGGLES OF EXECUTED MURDERER RECORDED

Dr. Stephen H. Besley, prison physician, examines the cardiograph made of the heart of John W. Deering (right), 40-year-old murderer, as Deering was shot by four executioners at Salt Lake City. The steady line reveals Deering's reaction as he awaited the firing squad. The first flutter marks impact of the bullets; the wild fluctuations are the death struggle. End of the line is death. Deering, who asked that he be executed for killing a man in a robbery, gave his body to a medical school and the corners of his eyes to a blind man for transplanting.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

By Reubin Coon

HOLLYWOOD—Whitney Bourne is one of those people you hear about, and practically everything you hear sounds like an act.

She dresses startlingly (you hear) with a happy disregard for fashion, yet manages to look chic (as we don't say in Paris) and grab attention wherever she goes.

She favors evening gowns and slacks, with nothing in wardrobe for in-between occasions.

You hear she moved from a $150 apartment in Hollywood to a big-time house in Brentwood with big lawns front and back and more shrubbery than you can count.

She drives like the wind, has wrapped her car around a tree at least once—herself escaping scratchless—and she's a creature of mad impulses, wild enthusiasms, reckless generosity, and whimsical fancies. She is, in other words, a Personality.

YOU get sick and tired of acts after a few years in Hollywood.

The day I called she was in the throes. Breathless. Telephones and doorbells ringing. Her maid Marie housecleaning. Whitney housecleaning too. All that hardware on her arm, jangling like the boss's buzzer on a morning after a show.

She isn't really a "mad" person as she's pictured—in fact she dislikes "mad" people. She dresses as she does because she likes to dress as she does—and its fun.

She likes fun. She's having a lot of fun even if not much of a movie career. She's practically hopeless on the movie score now.

Her option comes up in January and she knows there isn't a contract—extending role in sight.

Amid all the confusion—she has a rather flattering way of including callers in it—I gathered a few items about Mrs. B. to wit:

She's pictured in fact she dislikes "mad" people. She dresses as she does because she likes to dress as she does—and its fun.

Just a glance—and you will know that it leads in looks. From its narrow, racing-type radiator to the tastefully-fashioned tail light—it has no counterpart among cars of its price.

And, of course, being a Cadillac product, it rides and performs like no other car in its field. It is luxury personified—not only in its comfort and handling ease, but in the beauty and richness of its interiors as well.

Plainly, if you intend to spend as much as a thousand dollars for your next car, you ought to see the new LaSalle. You can learn in thirty minutes why it's the "hit" car of the year!

Rockefeller Has Excellent Record

Recently endorsed him unanimously for re-election. With opposition in the primaries, Congressman Rockefeller's friends devoting all their efforts to his re-election by an aggressive vote and to sustain the prestige of the five counties as one of the strongest Republican sections of the State.

Few men in the public life of the State of New York have had varied an experience in public life as Congressman Rockefeller. This State service has been valuable to the Congressman in his acceptance of a post in the State Department of Public Instruction at Albany. He served in the finance bureau, where he laid the foundation for a career as an accountant and which later was of great value in the State Department of Taxation and Finance. Mr. Rockefeller continued in the old educational agency until there was a new set-up and the bureau became a part of the new state tax department during the regime of former Governor Charles S. Whitman.

The Congressman became head of the department of municipal accounts in the State Comptroller's office. This division was created under an act passed by Congressman James W. Wadsworth, Jr., of Genesee, while the latter was member and later Speaker of the State Assembly. The need had developed for a checkup of the accounts of the subdivisions of the state. Mr. Rockefeller was drafted for this vitally important work as a result of the fine record which he had made in the State service. He served in this post for 10 years, from 1905 to 1915, when he was chosen by the then head of the Tax Department, former Senator Martin Saxe, head of the Taxation Committee of the recent Constitutional Convention, to assume a much more important post.

There was a time in State affairs when there was no central State agency where tax assessments could be reviewed. The state administration formulated an agency in the State Department of Taxation which was known as the Bureau of Local Assessments and Equalization. Mr. Rockefeller was appointed as head of the bureau.

For 10 years Congressman Rockefeller went about the State of New York and visited every county in the State, including the five counties of the Congressional District, holding public hearings. He won an outstanding reputation for fairness and courage in dealing with all the complicated problems and his decisions were regarded as models of tax administration.

At one session in connection with tax equalization in Sullivan county, Congressman Rockefeller had three well known leaders in legal affairs as counsel before him. They were: the late George H. Smith, Joseph Roesech and Sydney Foster. All three lawyers later became Supreme Court Justices of the Third Judicial District. In all his hearings, Congressman Rockefeller, then a Deputy Commissioner of the Tax Department, achieved a reputation for courtesy and fairness to the litigants, lawyers and local tax officials that is still discussed favorably in Albany official circles.

After a service of 35 years, which gave him a statewide reputation as a tax authority, Mr. Rockefeller retired to devote all his time to his private work as an accountant, with offices in Hudson.

He always took an active part in Republican party affairs in Columbia county. He was invited to head the County Committee of Columbia county chairman in 1924 and has held that post ever since. He has been a well known figure at many of the State and national conventions and was the head of the delegation to the State Convention at Saratoga.

Despite all his official duties, Congressman Rockefeller has been one of the leading figures in all projects of common interest in Columbia county.

The congressman served for 15 years until recently as president of the Chatham Fair, also served as president of the Columbia County Automobile Club and for two years was president of the State Association of Agricultural Societies. Congressman and Mrs. Rockefeller have two children.

Home Service Make Your Letter A True Picture of You

Learn to Write Charmingly
Such an attractive snapshot of yourself you're sending to Jack—but what about your letter? That, too, pictures you—as dull and crude or gay and charming.

Make your beginning as graceful as your photograph. Don't say bluntly, "Dear Jack: Received your letter. Hope you are enjoying your trip." Write instead, "What fun to hear about your ramblings from Hither to Yon."

A smile in your letter counts

too. Instead of, "Poor me, having to stay home while other folks go traveling"—share Jack's good times with "I can almost see the misty swamps at moonlight. And it was easy to imagine myself in that funny little inn, bent over a bowl of steaming chicken gumbo."

End on a flattering note. "Your letters are grand fun, but they can't take the place of your own witty self."

You can easily put warmth, friendliness into letters. Our 32-page booklet tells how to write easily and naturally. Gives vocabulary tips, topics to write about. Samples of friendly letters, job-getting letters, thank-you notes, invitations and answers.

Send 10c in coin for your copy of GOOD LETTER-WRITING MADE EASY TO The Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Service, 635 Sixth Avenue, New York, N. Y. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of Booklet.

ASSOCIATED PRESS PICTURE NEWS

IN ANY FOOT RACE between a law-breaker and Officer Don Lash (above) of the Indiana state police force, the man being chased had better beware. Lash, one of Indiana university's greatest distance runners, has changed his track suit for an officer's uniform. His records include a time of 4:07.2 for the mile at Princeton—the second fastest mile ever run.

MILITARY uniform seems oddly missing in such a placid view of Italy's Count Ciano, son-in-law of Il Duce and "heir apparent" to his power. The count's seven-year-old son, Fabrizio, wears uniform of Fascist youth's "Sons of the Wolf."

'I'LL DO DUTY,' pledges Rep. Martin Dies (above), chairman of the House un-American activities committee which was bitterly attacked by F.D.R. because testimony about Michigan labor trouble was unfavorable to Gov. Frank Murphy, friend of the President.

CALIFORNIANS STAKE OUT CLAIMS IN UTOPIA AS VOTE ON WEEKLY PENSION PLAN NEARS

BIGGER STAKES will be up in the Nov. 8 election than the candidacy of Philip Bancroft (right), Republican, opposing Sheridan Downey, Democrat, for the California senatorship. The big issue will be the "330 every Thursday" pension plan called "crackpot" by Bancroft and his brother, Griffin (left). The plan is embodied in a proposed constitutional amendment.

ONE-TIME ACTOR Sherman J. Bainbridge is among the "330 every Thursday" spellbinders. He says the pension scrip circulating will stimulate industry, consumption.

PRE-PRIMARY enthusiasm of Sheridan Downey, Democratic senatorial candidate seen with his family, for the "330 every Thursday" plan is said to have cooled. However, there are many willing workers for the cause among the 500,000 to 800,000 Californians past 54 who stand to collect $30 in state scrip if the proposed constitutional amendment is adopted.

ADMINISTRATOR of the pension plan is to be Roy G. Owens (above), as provided in the proposed amendment which names two other men as potential administrators.

FERTILE BRAINS of Willis (left) and Lawrence Allen helped conceive the pension paradise, and radio has been a pliant medium for their doctrines. Under the plan, a 2-cent redemption stamp must be affixed every Thursday to each one dollar of the scrip in circulation. Stamp tax proceeds are designed to redeem the scrip in regular currency at end of a year.

Landon Says Voters Must Take Stand Against Fascism

Also Tells Oklahoma Audience That Financial Tinkering Is Holding Back U. S. Economic Recovery

(By The Associated Press)

All M. Landon, 1936 Republican presidential nominee, told a political rally last night at Bartlesville, Okla., that election of Republican congressmen and governor next Tuesday would be "an important step in leading the way back to economic improvement."

Continued experimentation with the nation's finances, he said, is "the one thing that is holding back prosperity."

Democratic Chairman James A. Farley, on the other hand, said in an endorsement of the California Democratic ticket that business is better everywhere, constituting "a complete answer to the awful prophecies of those who are attempting to discourage the New Deal."

Their speeches shared attention with criticism by Secretary Wallace of Thomas L. Dewey, Republican candidate for governor of New York.

A statement by Wallace as secretary Dewey had not told the whole truth to a Birmingham, N. Y., audience last Friday in saying farm income had not risen in New York as much as in the remainder of the country. Dewey failed to mention, Wallace said, that farm income in the state had not fallen as far from 1929 to 1932 as it did throughout the nation.

President Roosevelt made his first endorsement of a New York candidate, praising Senator Robert F. Wagner in a letter as "a great liberal."

New York Times, independent Democratic paper which backed Wagner six years ago announced it would support John Louis O'Brien, his Republican opponent.

Edward Corsi, Republican candidate for the unexpired term of the late Senator Royal S. Copeland, The New York Daily News, independent tabloid which has favored the New Deal, endorsed Wagner and Representative James M. Mead, Corsi's Democratic opponent. Both newspapers have endorsed Gov. Herbert H. Lehman over Dewey.

In his Bartlesville speech, Landon declared the country must choose in the next two elections whether it will remain a democracy or become a fascist state.

"We can not vest too much power in a few individuals as we have now and maintain a representative democracy," he said.

He asserted the administration had failed to remedy economic ills even though it "has had the most complete control over congress and the 48 states of any party in our history."

Low Wheat Price Spurs G. O. P. Hopes For Kansas

CLYDE M. REED
Wheat grower

By The AP Feature Service
Topeka—A 50 per cent decline in the price of wheat in the past twelve months put Kansas in the doubtful column for the November congressional election.

The nation's major wheat-producing state, Kansas joined the New Deal parade behind the candidacy of Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1932. When grain prices slumped to the depression bottom, the "breadbasket" state revolted against the Hoover ticket despite the fact a native son, Charles Curtis, was the vice-presidential candidate.

Turned Down Landon
It stayed in that parade in 1935 even though its governor, Alf Landon, was the Republican choice to replace President Roosevelt in the White House. Wheat prices were on the up-grade and farmers were receiving millions in farm benefit payments.

This year the situation is different. A year ago wheat was bringing the Kansas farmer slightly more than a dollar a bushel. Now he is doing well to get half that much. Rumblings of farmer dissatisfaction are heard again.

Kansas Republicans count on the low price of wheat to help them unseat the Democratic Senator George McGill. Their choice is busy former Governor Clyde M. Reed, close friend of Kansas noted editor, William Allen White.

Hot Governor's Race Too
Often described as a "liberal" Republican, Reed's strength in the past rested largely on farmer support. McGill's backers believe despite the fact a native son, Charles Curtis, was the vice-presidential candidate.

Sharing the Kansas campaign spotlight is the hot battle for the governorship. Democratic Governor Walter Huxman, ardent supporter of the New Deal, is opposed by youthful State Senator Payne B. Baker, political protégé of Landon.

A Huxman victory, his friends declare, would make him an important figure in 1940—possibly as a vice-presidential candidate.

Halloween Observed in City By Legion and Pranksters

Halloween was observed in Kingston on Monday evening with a big party held in the municipal auditorium under the auspices of Kingston Post of the American Legion. During the evening the police department was kept busy responding to calls from all sections of the city.

On Orchard street someone sprinkled about 20 pounds of roofing nails in the road, while on New street several milk bottles were broken in the road.
